Emergency Data presentation Q&A, PPT Attached to notes

Q: Would love to look at hospital admissions that were a result of patients being unable to access preventative or less urgent medical care, due to lack of transportation access. A: Sometimes we know how the patient arrived – could be a request to hospitals by ATSC, do add a note in triage notes, arrived via EMS, Police, POV

Q: Do you see/try to account for differences in the medical notes/biases in nursing staff? A: Open to exploring that in context of traffic injuries.

Q: Are you doing anything that can help identify people who don't seek care, period, due to fear of official processes? We have data on admittances. Could look at distribution of medical conditions by race in diff neighborhoods... social determinants of health and health equity is very important to our department. (Barb: In an FHWA workshop someone shared the story of a pedestrian safety audit conducted because a stretch of road had 9 deaths. But when they talked to the local priest, he said no, it's 18--I've conducted the funerals. 9 of them were people who would rather die than risk their family's status being discovered.)

Q: Do you have data about where the incident occurs? A: It depends on whether patient provides, or whether provider enters it. Usually just “intersection, sideway, surface street”. Could ask hospitals to provide more info in the triage notes.

Story about Sweden clearing walkways before roads in weather conditions

<https://usa.streetsblog.org/2018/01/24/why-sweden-clears-walkways-before-roads/>

Q: What training do people reporting data to have uniform info? A: It's not specially reported to us, but Sinbad format is an international standard of transmission of health data, but it's only what is put into the triage notes and diagnostic codes. Will be big differences between facilities, some have social determinants of health, others have Sepsis checklist.

Q: What's happening on categorization on race/ethnicity and not using binary code of gender M/F?

A: Race and ethnicity have flat codes, have been working on a project to better understand racial classification (more than half of native could be mis-classified as white/other). And how the fields are aggregated/not. AM is part of many work groups on addressing and fixing the long-standing issue of "data genocide."

For SOGI (Sexual Orientation Gender Identity) Sinbad only has M/F/Other. Would have to be a national conversation, is a big oversight,)

Pilot Project for Block the Box, Restricted Transit Lanes – Dongho Chang

Block the Box SDOT Blog

Background: <https://www.seattle.gov/police/community-policing/ws-low-bridge-enforcement>

Our background info on the Spokane St is in our blog post is here:

<https://sdotblog.seattle.gov/2020/10/21/were-installing-signs-around-the-west-seattle-low-bridge-starting-oct-24-to-let-everyone-know-bridge-access-will-be-monitored-with-automated-photo-enforcement-fines-begin-as-early-as-january-1/>

- In 2020 legislative session, City of Seattle got authority to expand safety enforcement cameras for Seattle-specific areas. Blocking intersections at a red in 20 locations.
- And automated enforcement in transit lanes on Spokane St. Started collecting fines in Feb, growing as traffic resumes to normal.
- 50% of excess revenue from these two pilot projects has to be used for safety and will be dedicated to Cooper Jones. To date, $148K, expecting $800K for the year. Other 50% earmarked for accessibility, automated ped signals. (financial snapshot below)
- Who to thank for the funding? Alex Alston at Washington Bike and Anna Zivarts at Disability Mobility Initiative!
- Next locations – W Seattle buses and heavily used transit routes (Aurora Rapid Line E Line, block the Box South Lake Union on Mercer St., streetcar on Valley/Westlake, 4th and Jackson, 5th and Olive,
- It's a pilot and will have to be reviewed by the state Legislature for continuation
- 80% learn from a warning (don't get a ticket) but 20% are repeat offenders, "paying for the privilege" – due to privacy/equity issues can't yet implement an escalator clause for repeat offenders
- Some data stories we can tell about the values of investments made, how the $ has been put to good safety use
- Exec Comm is researching how this year's funding can be used and how it might change the nature of the committee structure

Announcements:

2021 Washington Walk, Bike, and Roll Summit is online, September 27 – October 1

Legislative Update by Barb: When transportation budget is adopted, that gives funding for safe streets for schools. Also, directive to WSDOT recommendations to changes in process to encourage more participation from jurisdictions under-represented. Our process will get into inequities. Ideas for us to test changes and barriers that exist today – targeted and informative.

Barb: Working on Active Transportation Part II, going to internal review, public comment this fall.

Anna: Will soon release a white paper based on our transportation story map; will invite ATSC to the press conference (likely Aug 4). Link to the white paper, (not final!) is here:
