WTSC Advisory Council Membership Opportunity

The Opportunity

The Washington Traffic Safety Commission is seeking a member of the general public to serve on the new Trucking Safety and Education Council (TSEC).

The purpose of the council is to recommend programs and projects that help make the commercial trucking industry safer. The council will bring together public and private partners to use crash data and proven safety practices to improve driver education, support compliance with safety regulations, strengthen industry training, and provide educational programs.

About WTSC

The WTSC is a national leader in traffic safety. Our small agency manages Washington's behavioral traffic safety programs, having a direct impact on preventing impaired driving, distracted driving, speeding, and other high-risk behaviors that lead to traffic deaths and injuries. The WTSC also maintains the official database of Washington's fatal traffic crashes.

- Our Vision: A Washington where we all work together to travel safely on our roadways.
- Our Mission: We connect communities and Tribal Nations with resources to build a positive traffic safety culture.
- Target Zero: WTSC collaborates with Tribal Nations, communities, partners, and other state agencies to achieve Target Zero – Washington State's Strategic Highway Safety Plan of zero deaths and zero serious injuries.

Council Member Duties:

As a member of the TSEC, you can expect the following:

- Attend quarterly meetings (February, May, August, November).
- Work with fellow council members to make recommendations to WTSC that support the council's purpose, including projects and programs that:
    - Improve commercial truck safety and training;
    - Support research and development; and
    - Educate the public.

Compensation

Council members may be eligible for compensation for their time serving on the TSEC when the individual has lived experience or low-income status and does not receive compensation from another source for their participation.
